Please note that hidden fees in international transactions may result in a reduced amount arriving to the University of Erfurt. In this case, you will be asked to pay the missing amount in cash to the university's cashier.

Program Information

Mandatory Courses for First-Year Students

All students must take the following courses:

- Choose between PA-310: Game Theory (Winter Term 2009/2010) or PA-401: Comparative Public Policy (Summer Term 2010)
- PA-201: Quantitative Analysis and Modeling
- FIN-101: Financial Management in the Public Sector
- PNM-101: Strategic Management and Public Administration

Specialization Modules

- By the end of their study period (third semester), students must complete two specialization modules by obtaining a minimum of 9 credit points (6+3 credits or 3+3+3 credits) in two modules
- Students are of course free to audit additional courses with the instructor's permission.
- It is not possible to substitute credits earned in one module for credits earned in another module or to take a course twice.

Independent Study Units

Independent study units aim at deepening the student's knowledge in certain public policy fields at an individual pace and geared to individual needs. Subject to approval by the academic mentor, The Willy Brandt School, academic staff, as well as faculty members or professors of the Faculty of Economics, Law and Social Sciences may be approached as instructors for an independent study unit. The Willy Brandt School has developed multimedia courses for a number of public policy topics. Students who wish to familiarize themselves with modern media are encouraged to base an independent study unit on one of these multimedia courses. According to Chapter II, Sec. 3 of the Examination and Study Rules, an independent study agreement must be signed by both the student and the instructor to receive credit for an independent study unit. In this independent study agreement, the student pledges to work on the agreed topic and corresponding questions regularly and independently as well as to spend the necessary amount of time to reach the learning goals. To check the learning progress and to give the instructor an overview of the working status, specific assignments are given and regular meetings should be agreed upon.

If you are interested in enrolling in an independent study unit, please contact your academic mentor or the Willy Brandt School's Director for more details.

Please check the "Prüfungs- und Studienordnung" (Examination and Study Rules) for more detailed and legally binding information regarding the program structure. For easy reference, an unofficial English translation of this document is also available.

"Belegbogen" / Course Registration

All courses for which you wish to receive credit during the summer term must be marked on the so-called "Belegbogen" (Course Registration Form). The "Belegbögen" are produced online by yourself (procedure: see internal area of the Willy Brandt School's website, "General Announcements".) They must be printed, signed by you and your Academic Mentor, and turned in by the end of the third week of the lecture period / not later than April 30, 2010. Please drop them off at the Brandt School Main Office!

Keep in mind that your Academic Mentor must approve your course selection for each semester and that changes may be necessary before you turn it in. Therefore, do not wait until the last possible day to meet with your Mentor!

Courses of Instruction

Policy Analysis Module

Title: PA-201: Quantitative Analysis and Empirical Methods
 Instructor: Robert Jung
 ECTS: 6
 Day, Time: Tuesday, 4-6 p.m.
 Location: LG1/HS4

Description:

This course provides a comprehensive introduction into quantitative empirical approaches to policy analysis. The course shows how empirical research is carried out and how it can become the base of policy decisions and policy evaluation. Some simple quantitative research methods and designs are shown. The course covers topics such as descriptive statistics, probabilities, inferential statistics, and regression analysis.

Literature:

A reading list will be provided at the beginning of the course.

Title: PA-401: Comparative Public Policy
 Instructor: Heike Grimm
 ECTS: 6
 Day, Time: Thursday, noon -2 p.m.
No session on Thursday, 08.04.2010
FIRST SESSION on Thursday, 15.04.2010
Thursday, 29.04.2010, 2-4 p.m. (instead of noon -2 p.m.)
 Location: LG2/207

Description:

The central aim of the course is to compare and examine concrete public policies of interest across a variety of national and sub-national contexts. Therefore, a methodological and theoretical entrée is offered to comparative policy analysis. A major focus of the course is on the variation in national and sub-national policy patterns within Europe, but also within the wider OECD area and Africa with a view to understanding how and why public policy-making differs across nations and what they can learn from each other's policy experience. The course aims at offering an advanced understanding of key policy issues in various societies with a special focus on economic, innovation, entrepreneurship, and health policy-making.

Management Module

Title: PNM-101: Strategic Management and Public Administration
(NOT Public and Nonprofit Management – PNM-101: Mandatory Course in Management Module!)

Instructors: Philipp Müller

ECTS: 6

Day, Time: Tuesday, 2-4 p.m.

Location: LG1, HSS

Description:

This course introduces students to a variety of analytic techniques useful for policy/program implementation and managing organizational performance. "Strategic management" involves defining public value, mobilizing legitimacy and support for that value, and developing and deploying the operational capacity to deliver it. By the end of the course, students should be able to diagnose an organization's strategic position and develop a plan for improving its performance; they should also be able to understand the organizational factors likely to affect a given policy's implementation and to adjust policy design to produce a better outcome.

Specialization Module: European Public Policy

Title: EU-117: European Media Policy and Communication
Instructor: Manuela Glaab
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: Tuesday, 10 a.m. - noon
Location: Building 39/20

Description:

European Media Policy and Communication is a more than dynamic field. The course focuses on recent developments in that sector which are often technology driven. The class will analyze policy responses of the European Union and discuss their consequences for the media markets as well as the public sphere. What results from the digitalization of the media? Is there anything like European information society? Do EU policies sustain diversity? The course requires some previous knowledge on the EU but is also open for those who have not yet studied European integration.

Title: EU-102: External Relations of the EU. Actors, Issues, and Results
Instructor: Cornelius Adebahr
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: Wednesday, 14.04.2010, 2-8 p.m.
 Thursday, 15.04.2010, 8 a.m. - noon
 Wednesday, 28.04.2010, 2-4 p.m. and 6-8 p.m.
 Thursday, 29.04.2010, 8 a.m. - 2 p.m. and 4 - 8 p.m.
 Friday, 30.04.2010, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Location: Building 39/01 (Basement)

Description:

This seminar aims to provide an introduction into the foreign policy-making of the European Union. European Foreign Policy (EFP) is understood to encompass both the well-established external relations of the EU where the European Commission has primary competence (e.g. external trade, humanitarian aid, and relations with third countries – the “economic giant”), and the somewhat newer foreign policy areas where Member States have a prerogative (Common Foreign and Security Policy (CFSP), including the European Security and Defence Policy (ESDP) – the often lamented “political dwarf”).

Students will learn about the actors involved in and the processes of European foreign policy-making. Different fields of EU external activity will be covered.

Title: EU-118: European Energy and Climate Policy
Instructor: Florian Baumann
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: FIRST SESSION Wednesday, 14.04.2010 2-4 p.m. (location t.b.a.)
Location: Thursday, 08.07.2010, 2- 8 p.m.
 Friday, 09.07.2010, 10 a.m.- 7 p.m.
 Saturday, 10.07.2010, 9 a.m.- 5: 45 p.m.
 Building 39/20

Description:

The seminar "European Energy and Climate Policy" will cover institutional aspects and historical developments of EU policy making. A focus will be on the recent advancements in the field of common energy and climate policies. Therefore relevant strategies and empirical manifestations of those matters will be analyzed. The main purpose is to enable students to understand the political relevance of European policy on energy and climate change and to reflect upon them from a theoretical perspective.

NEW COURSE:

Title: EU-119: Social Policy and Administration between individualising and linking lives
Instructor: Patricia Frericks
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: Wednesday 6-8 p.m.
Location: NO SESSION ON April, 14 and 28
 t.b.a

Description:

The rise of complex welfare states led to a far-reaching institutionalisation of the life-course. A variety of social policy measures, social benefits and social rights were linked to a standardized biography. The concept of a standardized life course differs from country to country, building on assumptions of the citizens which are, for instance, individualised or familialised. Often, though, the various national policies and policy resorts (e.g. family policies, pension policies, care policies, and labour market policies) use different concepts of the life course so that in some cases highly inconsistent social policies coexist in one single country.

The various social policy reforms of the past two decades seem to involve a substantial change of the concept of the life course and the unit of social rights' recipients. It is debatable, however, whether one might speak of a convergence of life course concepts on which current social policies are based on.

In this seminar we will examine the different facets of the linkage between social policies and life courses. We will discuss theoretical concepts, approaches and methods to analyse social institutions. Aim of this seminar is to comprehend the linkage of social policies and life courses with a special emphasis on 'linked lives' (e.g. households, generations) and various financial pressures (e.g. sustainable welfare systems).

Participants are meant to engage actively in the result-oriented projects of this seminar. We will start with short presentations and in depth discussions of the concepts which we will use to analyse current social policies in chosen countries and policy areas (therefore, students should not miss the first third of the seminar). The second part will start with a presentation of the data bases and information sources that offer all relevant information for the following projects. These projects, then, conducted in small groups, will elaborate on (European) social policies to detect inconsistencies either in financial terms or in terms of social benefits' units. The preliminary results will be presented in plenary sessions in the third phase of this seminar, the final ones as written essays.

Title: INT-131: Peace-Building: Concepts and Strategies
Instructor: Kristina Roepstorff
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: Wednesday, 10 a.m. - noon
Location: Building 39/20

Description:

This course introduces concepts and strategies of peace-building applied in post conflict situations. While the course analyses competing claims about the causes of conflict and strategies for conflict management and resolution, it focuses on the main tasks of recovery and reconstruction.

It therefore explores the different dimensions of peace-building (economic-social, military-security, political-constitutional, and psycho-social).

Topics covered include, among others: the differentiation of peace-building from peace-making and peace-keeping missions; overview over peace-building models in international policy; the role played by the 'international community', national governments and non-governmental organizations in peace-building; post-conflict reconstruction and reconciliation in war-torn societies.

Instructor: Edgar Aragón
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: Friday, 28.05.2010, 10 a.m. - noon
 Saturday, 29.05.2010, 9 a.m. – 6 p.m.
 Friday, 04.06.2010, 10 a.m. - noon
 Saturday, 05.06.2010, 9 a.m. – 6 p.m.
 Friday, 11.06.2010, 10 a.m. -noon
 Saturday, 12.06.2010, 9 a.m. – 6 p.m.
Location: Building 39/20

Description:

The purpose of this seminar is to discuss global issues suffocating local communities, analyzing some potential solutions, and providing a general framework to deal with them at the global stage.

The seminar will motivate students to use their public policy skills into specific real life situations in fields ranging from water provision, health care, crime and security to poverty alleviation and job creation.

The course is based in real cases from different countries, allowing students to take a decision-making position during discussions in class.

Theoretical frameworks from Amartya Sen, Michael Porter, Tony Gomez-Ibañez will be introduced during the sessions themselves, as tools to approach specific problems.

Title: PNM-205: Political Consulting and Policy Advice
Instructor: Manuela Glaab
ECTS: 3
Day, Time: Monday, 2- 3:30 p.m.
Location: Building 39/20

Description:

Why do governments draw upon external expertise although the administration provides policy advice from inside? Do political consultants and campaign techniques influence public policy? Can lobbyists or citizens be considered as experts? The seminar discusses recent developments in the field of political consulting and policy advice from a theoretical as well as a practice oriented perspective. Structures, actors and processes are examined to better understand how these mechanisms affect policy making.

Saturday, 26.06.2010, 9 a.m. -6 p.m.
Location: Building 39/20

Description:

After – or even before - graduating from Brandt School, most of you will be planning your professional future. You will be entering the job market, send out applications, be invited to interviews and hopefully gain an attractive position in a public administration, an international organisation or in private business.

Whatever it is going to be, it will be quite different from life as a student. In particular, there will be new challenges for you in the field of communication. You probably think that your interpersonal skills, your ways of communicating with others are naturally well-developed. That may certainly be the case. But there is always room for improvement. And the first step towards a better performance is to become aware of one's capabilities, potential, talents, and possible shortcomings. That's what this 3-day workshop is all about. The workshop will include some theoretical advice, but mostly it will be a practical exercise where the participant has to perform in certain simulated communication situations. Feedback will be provided by the instructor and the other participants. Everybody will be judged and judge. In addition, you will have the chance to see yourself as your performances will be video-taped.

This is a block seminar that begins after the end of the official registration period. Participation in this particular course will be limited to 12 students.

To be considered, you will have to submit a written request spelling out your motivation to take this course, before April 30. Please submit it by e-mail to the instructor (cc: publicpolicy@uni-erfurt.de)

If we receive more than twelve letters of motivation, we will have to reject some of you for this term. However, we will try to ensure that those of you rejected, if any, will get their chance, too, before the end of your studies.

Title: PRO-03: Introduction to Negotiation and Mediation
Instructor: Juan Armando Diaz

Saturday, 15.05.2010, 9 a.m. - 6 p.m.
Locations: Building 39/20

Description:

The course is built around two weekend seminars. The course will be a combination of lectures, presentations, and practical exercises. Students will be asked to select specific readings and will be expected to participate in small group discussions, role plays, and project development.

The aims of the course will be to develop:

- Understanding of the major approaches to negotiation and mediation;
- Appreciation of how the theories of negotiation and mediation may be developed into techniques for dealing with conflicts;
- Skills in communication, negotiation and mediation
- Students skills in presentations.

This is a block seminar that will be limited to 14 students.

To be considered, you will have to submit a written request spelling out your motivation to take this course, before March 31. Please submit it by e-mail to the instructor (cc: publicpolicy@uni-erfurt.de)

This seminar is combined with a facultative tutorial: every Wednesday 2-4 p.m. (May, 5 till June, 16)

Literature: t.b.a

As every semester, a large variety of language classes falls under the "Basics and Language Module" as well. Check for time conflicts with mandatory MPP courses before signing up!
Note that several classes require an extra early (online) sign-up procedure or participation in entrance examinations to determine your proficiency level.

The deadline to take part in begins at March, 23!

See the University of Erfurt's online course catalog for the full range of offers for this term. Also make sure to refer to the Language Center's website (http://www2.uni-erfurt.de/sprachwissenschaft/onlineanmeldung/zeitraum_anzeigen.php?show=1#11269273600) for further information and detailed procedures!

Practical Exercise Module

Title: Internship
Instructor: Your respective Academic Mentor
ECTS: 6

The Public Policy degree program (MPP) includes an internship as one of the requirements for the completion of the degree. Primary purposes of the internship are to offer students the opportunity to apply the knowledge and skills they have learned from the classroom in a work setting, to give students a practical perspective on policy analysis and public management and to help them compare their abilities and interests with requirements in particular fields of public policy.

Internships may be in government agencies, international organizations, NGOs, or other non-profit or for-profit organizations. The job description must show that the work assigned to the intern will be relevant to public policy analysis and/or management. Internships must last at least 160 hours (i.e. 4 weeks if full-time). Normally, the internship will be undertaken during the summer break between the second and the third term (Mid-July to Mid-October). The hosting agency must name a specific person responsible for supervising the intern and for communicating with the Brandt School.

In order to receive credits for their internship, students have to submit an internship report of approximately 10 pages to the respective Academic Mentor no later than 30 days after the last day of the internship. The report should include at least the following elements: (A) brief description of the agency, its environment, goals, structure and processes, and the department(s) the intern was assigned to (B) description of the specific tasks carried out by the intern: type of analysis undertaken or management work performed (C) conclusions and recommendations, including any significant unresolved issues (D) reflection upon the work experience gained in light of academic course work of the MPP program.

Thesis Module

Title: Research Colloquium for M.P.P. Thesis candidates
Instructor: Manuela Glaab / Heike Grimm/ Patricia Frericks
ECTS: none
Day, Time/ Location: FIRST SESSION Monday, 19.4., 6.30 p.m. -8 p.m. (Glaab), LG1, 228
FIRST SESSION Thursday, 15.4., 4- 6 p.m. (Grimm), LG2/207
Further sessions: t.b.a

Description:

This Research Colloquium is tailored to the needs of MPP students working on their thesis. It aims to introduce formal requirements and refine research skills as well help students in preparing the writing of their MPP thesis.

Furthermore, it provides a forum for discussion and presentation of interim results during the writing of the thesis.

Participation is mandatory for all second-year students.

Literature:

Additional Courses

Students also have the possibility to attend additional classes offered by other departments at the University of Erfurt, provided that instructors permit and space is available in these courses.

A main reason for attending such additional courses would be to enrich your study experience beyond the requirements of the MPP degree program.

Check for time conflicts with mandatory MPP courses before signing up!

If you wish to have the credits you earn in certain course from outside the MPP program accepted towards completion of one of the MPP modules, please note that this is subject to individual approval. The final decision will be made by the MPP Examinations Committee.

(Ask Cornelia Storch/ N.N. for details of the procedure for having such courses appear on your official transcript.)
